LABOR CLARION

The Official Journal of the San Francisco Labor Council

VOL. XXIX

SAN FRANCISCO, FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1930

No. 8

STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR

Extracts from the Minutes of Meeting of Executive Council, San Francisco, March 16, 1930.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a. m. by President Stanton. Present: President W. P. Stanton, Vice-Presidents John S. Horn, J. W. Gillette, H. L. Alcorn, Ros. Mannina, George Durand, Elma F. Smith, Charles S. Child, James E. Hopkins, Anthony L. Noriega, John A. St. Peter, George W. Stokel and Secretary-Treasurer Paul Scharrenberg. Excused: E. F. Nelson. Absent: A. J. Felt.

Following is a summary of some of the more important communications acted upon by the Council: From the American Federation of Labor, Washington, D. C., relative to Resolution No. 33 (Mexican Immigration), Resolution No. 34 (Boulder Canyon Dam) and Resolution No. 35 (Filipino Immigration), all adopted at the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor at the instance of the delegate representing the California State Federation of Labor; concerning the antagonistic policy of the General Cigar Company toward the Cigarmakers' International Union; calling attention to the Sarnoff Hat Company of New York, which operates three retail stores in various parts of the country and is unfair to the union hatters.

From the Allied Amusement Industries of California, San Francisco, requesting co-operation in opposing the initiative measure to establish daylight saving by law; request complied with.

From Young Men's Christian Association at the Institute of Technology, Pasadena, concerning a student industrial seminar to be held in San Francisco during July and asking co-operation of the California State Federation of Labor; left in hands of executive officers.

From Cooks, Waiters and Waitresses' Local 708, Ventura, asking that an organizer be assigned to Ventura. Secretary stated that Organizer Casey is now in Santa Barbara and has been requested to visit Ventura at his convenience.

From Vice-President Lloyd A. Barnes, Los Angeles, tendering his resignation as vice-president because his appointment as Deputy Labor Commissioner has made it necessary to remove his residence from District No. 4; also recommending Chas. Rohrer of Electrical Workers No. 428 as his successor. A similar recommendation was received from the Kern County Labor Council. On motion, resignation of Vice-President Barnes was accepted and the matter of filling vacancy laid over until next meeting.

From J. B. Howell, president of San Diego Federated Trades and Labor Council, stating that the labor movement of San Diego is anxious to enter Edward H. Dowell as candidate for State Senator from San Diego County and inquiring about possibility of receiving financial assistance from the Federation. Secretary replied outlining policy of the Federation relative to political action and calling attention to the fact that in the past financial contributions of his character have been made by the Conference for Progressive Political Action, which represented the Railroad Brotherhoods as well as the State Federation of Labor.

Mooney-Billings Pardon.

In compliance with the request of the Long Beach convention, supplemented by the Toronto convention of the American Federation of Labor, Warren K. Billings has filed with the Supreme Court of California his application for a pardon. This course was necessary because under the Constitution of California Governor Young cannot grant a pardon to Billings until a majority of the judges of the Supreme Court made a recommendation to that effect. The Supreme Court is considering the matter and a report is due inasmuch as the statement was made by the Chief Justice that not more than two or three months would be required to dispose of the case. This time has about expired. The Mooney pardon application has been referred by Governor Young to the Advisory Pardon Board for an opinion. The Advisory Pardon Board consists of: H. L. Carnahan, Lieutenant-Governor, chairman; U. S. Webb, Attorney General; James A. Johnston, director of the Department of Penology; James B. Holohand and Court Smith. The latter are the wardens at the San Quentin and Folsom prisons. This board has not rendered a report to date and, in any event, it is reported that Governor Young will not act on the Mooney case until the Supreme Court renders a report on the Billings case.

Committee on Education.

The Long Beach convention directed this committee to call a meeting in Oakland, to invite certain interested parties to said meeting for the purpose of clarifying the situation relative to co-operative part time education. Such a meeting was held on January 3rd. After a lengthy discussion of existing differences the meeting authorized Chairman Murphy to appoint a smaller but representative committee for further conference on the subject and to make such recommendation as may be agreed upon to the committee on education of the California State Federation of Labor.

The sub-committee appointed by Chairman Murphy is as follows: George Durand, chairman; George G. Kidwell, William A. Spooner, L. B. Travers, S. J. Jacobs, Nicholas Ricciardi and Charles Gurnay. The sub-committee is still considering the subject.

J. L. Kerchen, educational director for the California State Federation of Labor, addressed the Council on plans for this year's summer School for Workers. Arrangements have been made to hold the school at Camp Seeley in Los Angeles County. There will be no charge for tuition and very reasonable rates for board and lodging will be obtainable. Further details and the exact time of holding the school will be published in the labor press.

Director Kerchen also stated that, while the Extension Division of the University of California was taking care of the major expenses, approximately $100 was required to meet the expenses for teachers, etc.

On motion, the sum of $50 was appropriated from the Federation's funds for the purpose stated. On further motion, Secretary was directed to urge the Los Angeles Labor Council to appropriate $50 for the school.

DOLE (?) IN NEW ZEALAND.

New Zealand, faced by extended unemployment, has turned to the dole system, according to cables received by the Department of Commerce. The so-called "dole" will be contributed by the beneficiaries.

Payments to men over 20 years of age will average about $5.25 a week and women will receive $4.37 weekly. Men between 18 and 20 will receive $3.75 and women of that age $3.18. Married women will receive $4.37 weekly, with an additional dollar for each child under 16 years of age, up to four children.

A fund of $3,500,000 will be distributed annually and is to be provided by contributions from persons over 18 years of age.

BARBERS TO BUILD.

(By International Labor News Service.)

At a meeting of the executive board of the Journeymen's Barbers' Union at headquarters in Indianapolis, the board decided to purchase a lot and build a headquarters building, James C. Shanessy, international president, announced. The building committee is composed of President Shanessy, Herman Wetzels, secretary-treasurer, and William C. Birthright, first vice-president.

The building will be two-story and basement. It will cost approximately $50,000, exclusive of the lot, which is situated in North Delaware street in a fine neighborhood outside the business district. President Shanessy said he hoped the building would be completed in time for dedication on Labor Day.

The executive board voted to send President Shanessy to Germany and Denmark, where he will attend a convention of barbers of those two countries. The action was an appreciation of what President Shanessy has done for the union. He will start his trip in July. The barbers reported steady growth in their union, with organization work steadily proceeding.

FIVE DAY WEEK AND SIX-HOUR DAY.

Decided advantages in the five-day week and shorter working day were pointed out recently by Charles E. Baldwin, acting Commissioner of Labor Statistics, who said there was a noticeable trend in industry toward the shorter week and day. Workers, Mr. Baldwin said, are almost universally in favor of the shorter work periods if they do not bring reduction in pay and employers are gradually adopting a similar view.

In some instances increased production might result from operating on the smaller schedules, but where production is entirely through mechanical means it would likely be less, since machines, although reflecting in some measure the control of the human element, have a rather definite capacity, Mr. Baldwin said.

The adoption of a six-hour working day might, to some degree, alleviate unemployment, Mr. Baldwin said, citing instances of industries which operate shifts of men 24 hours a day and seven days a week.

In industries not obliged to operate continuously, there would be a tendency to try to get the same production from the same number of workers as before adoption of a curtailed schedule, Mr. Baldwin pointed out. The same may be said of the five-day week, he added. Thus there is a difference of opinion as to the extent of any beneficial effect on the unemployment situation which might result from general adoption of the shorter week and day, he said.

Even among those employers who have already taken up the shorter schedules there is diversity of opinion as to the desirability of the change, according to Mr. Baldwin. Some say they can get better production, while others maintain that production cannot be as high as formerly. Many of them agree, however, that the employee is benefited by the longer week-end and that the relaxation allows him to put forth more effort when he does work.

Adoption of either the five-day week or six-hour day would mean a saving in operating expense in most industries, for there would be decreased use of fuel, light and power, Mr. Baldwin said. During boom periods there would be opportunity to increase the working time in order to stimulate production, he said in conclusion.

LAST DAY FOR COMPENSATION.

In a special bulletin sent to the 375 Posts of the American Legion in this State, Commander Clarence L. Kincaid of the World War veterans' organization is warning the ex-service men and women that April 6th is the final time for filing claims for compensation for disability incurred during the World War service. It is also the final date for the submission of evidence to support claims on disabilities other than nervous and mental diseases, spinal meningitis, active tuberculosis, paralysis agitans, encephalitis lethargica and amoebic dysentery, unless there is an official record of the injury during service or at the time of discharge.

These limitations are provided in the World War Veterans' Act as it now stands. The Johnson Bill, sponsored by the Legion, now pending in Congress, for amending the World War Veterans' Act, provides for striking out these limitations. The passage of this bill at the present session of Congress, however, is not yet a certainty, and the Legion is therefore urging all World War veterans who believe they are entitled to compensation for service connected disabilities to get their claims on file with the United States Veterans' Bureau. Doing so now will protect their rights under existing laws should Congress fail to strike out the limitations now imposed.

The one thing that is worse than an occasional demand for the union label or union service, is never to demand them.

"RUN O' THE HOOK"

Edited by the President of San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21. Members are requested to forward news items to Rm. 604, 16 First Street, San Francisco.

Edmond A. Malone, 51 years of age, passed away on Saturday, March 22. Mr. Malone had, for the last ten years been employed in the Crocker chapel. Cause of death was tuberculosis. The deceased is survived by his widow. Funeral services were held at St. Paul's Church on Monday and interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Run O' the Hook is informed that E. E. Vinson, of the Monotype chapel, was severely injured in an automobile accident on Sunday, March 23. Mr. Vinson, occupying the rear seat of a friend's car, was returning home, when the machine in which he was riding was struck from the rear. It is reported that Mr. Vinson sustained painful injuries of the back, there being a possibility that the vertebrae was fractured.

The fifth man in the Mailer arbitration handed down his decision on Wednesday evening. O. K. Cushing, the arbiter, decided that the mailers were not entitled to an increase at this time.

The four printer members of the I. T. U. Executive Council met with representatives of the New York newspaper publishers in New York on Friday, March 21, in an endeavor to break the deadlock existing in the scale negotiations. Leon Rouse, president of No. 6, is quoted as saying that so far as he knew, no new proposition would be presented by the union. The newspaper scale in New York expired last June and since that time negotiations looking toward the inauguration of the 5-day week for newspaper printers have been carried on.

While the response to the request of W. E. Pitschke for the names and addresses of those who have been members of the I. T. U. for thirty-five years or more has been very good, it has been decided to make the request that those with thirty years' membership send in their names. It is the hope of Mr. Pitschke that sufficient interest will be aroused to justify the formation of a local "Thirty Year Club." Many have expressed the belief that an occasional gathering of the "old-timers" would result in a greater spirit of fraternity. If you've been a member thirty years or more, send your name, address, and name of the local with which you first affiliated, to W. E. Pitschke, care of the writer, Room 604, 16 First Street.

Chronicle Chapel Notes—By C. C.

We have in this office a very select club or company. Its aims and ideals are very high. So high that Willie Beveridge, the slicker on the monotype caster, would like to see them shoveling coal in a warm place that we hear so much of in the course of a day's work. But to get back to this club, or, as they call themselves, "The Pineapple Club." Their chief aim in this world is inventing various labor saving brooms or brushes to be used around monotypes. Lately, the membership was composed of Dave Anley and Al Adams, but Joe Benz, being of an inventive turn of mind, has managed to gain admission into the club. Other information of the above will be gladly furnished by Beveridge, who has a few ideas of his own concerning the Pineapple Club.

At the last meeting of the Marin County Commuters' Union, held on the forward end of a ferry boat, Ralph McIntosh received his membership card of that organization. Ralph is now a full-fledged traveler of the bay, for he is now residing at Corte Madera, Marvellous Marin County, and I am sure his fellow members of the M. C. C. U., namely A. F. Martin, Van Schaick and Hutchinson, will give him points on catching a boat without going at top speed. The boys on the paper who ride trains and ferryboats should hold a convention, banquet or a get-together meeting some time.

A telegraphic dispatch of March 25, from Hagerstown, Md., carries a story that Verne Treat, piloting a mail plane, crashed on that date. Treat, after cutting off the ignition, jumped from the plane in his parachute and landed unhurt. Verne Treat is the son of Orrie Treat, popular ad man on this paper.

Johnny Neely will bet an old cigar butt against last week's racing chart that he can out-talk Ike Nesbit. In fact, he was about three laps ahead of Ike in a rag chew Monday evening.

Bet a mud pie against a line of pi that O. K. Swiggert is just counting the days when he can take a good long trip and forget agate, minion, stock tables, lunch hours and whatnots.

The warm weather early in the week had the boys day dreaming of open roads and the family cars heading for places where print shop odors are unknown.

Claude Maxwell was confined to his home suffering a severe attack of quincy. We hope by the time this is printed he will be around again.

Another member of this chapel is confined to his home (at the time this was written, Wednesday). Bill Nagle is the member and is suffering from neuritis.

What's the matter with the Examiner baseball team? No answer to the Chronicle challenge for a ball game!

News Chapel Notes—By L. L. Heagney.

Like Mayor "Sunshine Jimmy" Rolph, it takes Frank Vaughn a deuce of a long time to decide if he wants to seek election. The difference between them is that Frank threw his sombrero into the ring Sunday by asking endorsement of the Progressive party for his candidacy as delegate to the I. T. U. convention in Houston, whereas the other gentleman still is trying to make up his mind to run for Governor. They're both slow starters, you see, but once in motion a caboose full of wildcats can't stop 'em. Last summer Mr. Vaughn journeyed to Seattle as an alternate. However, there's nothing, he says, that makes a fellow feel so futile as an alternate with his coat off, sleeves rolled up—and a full set of duly accredited delegates on hand and functioning smoothly. This time Frank wants to be "it," though not in the Clara Bow sense. And the gang hereabouts is willing to hazard a good-sized wad of Uncle Sam's best engraved paper that Vaughn runs neck and neck with the leader if the leader is lucky enough to keep up with the pace The News' ex-Cripple Creek prospector and hard rock man sets.

Hoot mon, here's another one. This sheet just naturally nurtures high-grade political material, seems like; in other words, you furnish the offices and this chapel will furnish the men to fill them. Our other candidate, Milt Dunning, also shield his beany into the maelstrom of politics Sunday by asking the Progressives to endorse him for delegate.

Another gentleman from The News seeks recognition from the electorate this year, though in a broader field. George H. Knell, incumbent Union Printers Home trustee, having been overwhelmingly indorsed by hundreds of unions, doubtless will duplicate his victories of former years when he went over with handsome majorities. Mr. Knell holds a situation on a linotype, but having outside interests extras make a good living on the work he gives out, George firmly believing in living and giving the other fellow a chance to do likewise.

Why consume acres of space acquainting printers with the merits of these gentlemen when the best way is the shortest? Don K. Stauffer was elected president of No. 21 while operating a Merg on The News. By word and deed Don preached and practiced square shooting fraternalism. Is it matter of wonder, then, that some of his co-workers should aspire to emulate the example of one of No. 21's most outstanding executives?

As Texas Guinan might say: Give the boys a big hand and a bigger vote.

Charley Greer, sick a month or more, regained his strength just in time to turn nurse for his nurse, Mrs. Greer, who worked so hard taking care of him she got sick herself.

Extra! Extra! Charley Reid, the home-buying repeater, having bought and relinquished six or more homes last year, still owns and lives in the one he bought in 1930. However, it's early yet; give him a chance, he may beat his '29 record.

Purchasing an Oakland sedan last week, Harry Crotty is on the receiving end of more advice on how to drive than Noah got when making ready to start on his famous voyage. With all his gratis information to pick and choose from, Harry ought to pick up the knack of tooling a bus along the street in short order.

This chapel claims the champion marathon dancer of the great open spaces, waltzing under the nom de plume of Dick Smith. Thursday night Dick, in his new Duco 6, vanished from 'Frisco only to reappear in a Sonoma County resort where a contest is on among the girls. Mr. Smith did his marathoning by proxy, his sweetie nursing a yen to have him watch her do her stuff.

Schwabacher-Frey Notes—By "T."

Spring is here—yes sir! Many of the boys appeared this week with sunburned faces, to say nothing of other parts of their anatomies. Exposure to the direct rays of the sun will do this—all arguments to the contrary notwithstanding. Spring fever still persists unabated. No fatalities have as yet been recorded, however.

Notices of the new job scale agreement were received and passed around by Chairman Tommy Tommasini. The only pessimistic remark heard was made by Beavis who said that when one is docked it would be more than previously. That's tough.

Ted Marston in a smock he slipped out and purchased a hideous pair of overalls (union made). We will reform him yet.

We have with us as our new operator, Mr. Wilson. His experience has been gained from extensive travel over the country. He recently came to San Francisco from Los Angeles, where he put in a couple of years. Welcome to our midst.

George Walker, whose duties are confined to the vault, fell while searching for the elusive cut. As well as being badly shaken up he suffered a partial fracture of the left scapula.

Observations this week: Mr. Layten's smile—Emil Baffico's green shirt and tie—Wilson's unlit cigar—Teddy Popkin's grudge against barbers, or perhaps just dull razor blades—pressmen with nothing on their minds—the sweep-up man's devotion to duty during the peak hour of the afternoon—horse-play among the more frivolous.

So that you may better know them, a brief biography of one of the members of the chepal will appear weekly in these notes. None other was chosen as the first victim of this feature than our apprentice, Lawrence Da San Martino. Yes, that's right—he is of Italian descent: his mother and father followed the example set by the Great Christopher Columbus and emigrated from their birthplace in Northern Italy.

Lawrence was born in San Francisco and is twenty-two years of age. He has thus far successfully evaded matrimony. He blames Mission Hi for his educational status—and persists in a good deal of serious reading.

His apprenticeship began in 1925 at the Schwabacher-Frey Company—and he is looking forward to soon securing his card. Throughout his apprenticeship he has gained experience and knowledge by doing this and that, and is at present pursuing the mysteries of imposition. He has diligently studied the I. T. U. course with a good record. He is an apprentice member of the Craftsmen's Club, and is affiliated with the Eagles.

His favorite sport is hiking; his favorite book is Sky Riders, and Innocents of Paris his favorite show. As for a hobby he likes reading—a combination of literature on printing intermingled with a good blood-curdling murder story.

In reference to the Eighteenth Amendment he has wet propensities—and for indoor sports he much prefers African dominoes to penny ante.

MAILER NOTES.

By Leroy C. Smith.

From a trustworthy source we received the following list of endorsements of candidates for officers of the M. T. D. U.:

For President: C. N. Smith—Indianapolis, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Dallas, Salt Lake City, Pittsburgh, Albany, Seattle, Atlanta, Toledo, El Paso, Tacoma, Terre Haute, Oakland; total 15. John McArdle—St. Louis, Minneapolis, Toronto, New York, Denver, Los Angeles, Newark, Portland, Omaha, Memphis, Oklahoma City, Fresno, Ottawa, Little Rock, Vancouver; total, 15.

For Vice-President: John W. White—Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Omaha, Cincinnati, Memphis, Dallas, Salt Lake City, Pittsburgh, Albany, Seattle, Atlanta, Toledo, El Paso, Tacoma, Terre Haute, Oakland; total, 18. Harold Mitchell—St. Louis, Torton, New York, Los Angeles, Newark, Portland, Oklahoma City, Fresno, Ottawa, Little Rock, Vancouver; total, 11.

For Secretary-Treasurer: Monroe Roberts—St. Louis, Minneapolis, Toronto, New York, Denver, Los Angeles, Newark, Dallas, Portland, Omaha, Memphis, Oklahoma City, Toledo, Fresno, Little Rock, Vancouver; total, 15. Walter Weismann—Indianapolis, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Salt Lake City, Pittsburgh, Albany, Seattle, Atlanta, El Paso, Tacoma, Terre Haute, Ottawa, Oakland; total, 14.

Some eight or more locals, besides those non-affiliated, failed to endorse either ticket. The Denver local's endorsement of Harold Mitchell of Toronto for vice-president was thrown out by the M. T. D. U. executive committee for the reason, they claim, "no given name, nor the number of the union, was written in" the nomination report made to the M. T. D. U. secretary-treasurer. The endorsement of 11 locals is required by M. T. D. U. law to have one's name placed on the official ballot as a candidate for office.

Judging from the decision in the Denver case, the laws governing elections will be strictly enforced and not permitted to become "dead letters," as, for instance, the law instructing the secretary-treasurer to publish a monthly financial statement in the Journal, none having appeared in the Journal since July, 1926. Evidently "there's a reason" for the law not being complied with in the latter case, judging from the showing of the way the money was spent with a lavish hand by the M. T. D. U. officers, as disclosed by the December audit of M. T. D. U. accounts. What "consistency"?

The M. T. D. U. officers complain of many of their members' failure to observe the law. In addition to this complaint, these same M. T. D. U. officials file a bill of complaint in a federal court, claiming the present executive council of the I. T. U. are not living up to I. T. U. law, when these same officials do not obey the laws of the M. T. D. U., only, it would seem, as it suits their purpose. But, then, as John McArdle and his "reform party" ticket have not, so far as we have been able to ascertain, objected to the M. T. D. U. officers ignoring one law, seeking to enforce another, and endeavoring, through federal court action, to have the I. T. U. laws interpreted to suit said M. T. D. U. officers, is an important question, namely: "Is the M. T. D. U. of benefit to mailers?" What benefits does it give to members? None at all, in our opinion.

The aftermath of the M. T. D. U. election will doubtless be a lively topic for discussion by the delegates to the M. T. D. U. Houston convention. And, in all probability, a no less interesting topic of discussion at that convention will be the question of finances. Be no great surprise to the members of the "outlaw" locals to learn of an "S O S" being broadcasted from the Texas "field meet" of the M. T. D. U. convention for a "No. 2" $100,000 fund of some kind to "build up" the now nearly defunct M. T. D. U. treasury, for how else but by a tax on the membership can the M. T. D. U. officialdom continue court litigation against the I. T. U. The members have two choices. Either an assessment levied by the M. T. D. U. or the court assessing the membership for the litigation. Property owning mailers of the M. T.

D. U. would do well to devote a little thought to this subject of court litigation by M. T. D. U. officers.

With only $286 remaining in the defense fund, as shown by the December, 1929, audit, and President C. N. Smith on a salary of $200 a month and "other expenses" from this fund, as was adopted at the Charleston convention, we wonder if the executive committee won't transfer the $5000 back into the defense fund, so the mailer president may continue on the M. T. D. U. payroll in traveling around the country looking after mailer "interests" and, incidentally, the president's "political fences."

We are informed the executive committee of the M. T. D. U. held a meeting in St. Louis, Mo., recently, and that an appeal from a member of No. 18 was upheld, and same would be enforced when things were straightened out. Another decision of this august body was that if "Milwaukee No. 23 did not pay up the three months they were in arrears, the M. T. D. U. executive committee would suspend Milwaukee." Vice-President White wanted to declare endorsements by unions sending in dues to I. T. U. direct be declared void, but Smith and Roberts said no to the plan, due to "present conditions" in the ranks of the M. T. D. U. Besides campaigning for office, it would seem the M. T. D. U. officers have some problems on their hands that are loaded with dynamite.

In a letter to the writer, James T. (Scaurie) Moore, who was admitted to the Union Printers' Home last week from Chicago, is loud in his praises of the welcome extended him by Mr. James McCoy, the superintendent, and the comforts and treatment given him by the home personnel. He also adds that if many of the mailer members realized what a fine place the home was, they would hesitate before paying per capita into an organization for court litigation against the I. T. U. "The comforts and treatment I've already received here," Moore writes, "is worth all and, in fact, more money than we mailers ever paid into the I. T. U. for it."

Robert C. ("Doc") Emerson, Los Angeles No. 9's able and aggressive Progressive statesman, has announced he will begin the issuing of a weekly bulletin, giving the "high spots" of the mailer "war" now being waged between the M. T. D. U. and anti-M. T. D. U. forces in No. 9 and throughout the jurisdiction. We know of no one better qualified for the job, which, we hope, may lead to his adopting journalism as a career, for which line of work he has shown especial talent.

Louie Suhlson of the Examiner chapel and Miss Winnifred Atkinson of Boise, Idaho, were united in marriage recently in their home town, Boise, Idaho. The newlyweds will make their future home in this city. We extend congratulations.

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1930

Something new has come out of old New England. The New Hampshire Legislature met in special session and adjourned without passing a single law of general application. A few local measures were enacted but bills drafted to put into effect the recommendations of a commission on taxation were rejected. Then the Legislature went home. Life and business have been going on as before in New Hampshire and the State's Legislature is being hailed as an example to a law-ridden nation. It is true there are far too many laws, but it would hardly do if all State Legislatures followed a do-nothing policy. Legislation is needed from time to time to keep up with changing life. But at the same time, a great mass of obsolete and useless legislation could be repealed with benefit to the nation. Much of it has little or no relation to life today and only serves to clutter up the statutes and to bring all law into disrepute.

Louisiana statutes making it unlawful for employers to pay any laborer in any other way than with the current money of the United States or by check or draft on a bank, for work or service performed, has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in the case of J. I. Blake of Catahoula Parish, who was sentenced to pay a fine of $305 or serve thirty days in jail for violating the law. Blake was agent of the Louisiana Central Lumber Company and between pay days certain employees were given merchandise or trade checks, redeemable wholly or partly in merchandise at the commissary.

The reds had a racket in San Francisco when the Socialist mayor of Milwaukee attempted to address his fellows, and now they are to hold a meeting of their own in a hall that has become the home of that type. As usual the circulars wind up in true red fashion by saying: "Send all contributions to." The true red is always soliciting funds, and anything that gives him an excuse for so doing is welcomed. That is the way he manages to live.

FACTS AND FICTION

Prosperous captains of industry may try to persuade the people of this country that there is no problem of unemployment of a serious nature with which to deal and they may be able to convince those who do not feel the sting of want, but the man whose stomach is empty and whose family is in need of the bare necessities of life cannot be deceived by the trumpeting of the fat captains of industry. His belt is pulled up to the last hole right now and he needs something besides talk to cause him to let it out a bit. He wants some means of earning a living right now and some assurance that in future he will not be called upon to face a similar situation. He knows that his hope is capable of fulfillment and he desires that something of a practical character be done to provide immediate employment and to safeguard the future. He cannot wait two months for President Hoover's return of stable conditions, because a fast over so long a period would mean starvation and death both for himself and others. There is no necessity to be floundering around. The labor movement has proposed the only practical remedy and if employers refuse to put it into effect they must accept responsibility for the misery their stubbornness brings upon hundreds of thousands of helpless humans.

Unemployment continues. United States figures register a trifling drop for February. Not much. Meanwhile it is announced that states and counties will spend this year $225,000,000 more than they spent last year on roads. That is better news than all the talk.

Meanwhile, however, we have the talk. Hearings open on Senator Wagner's bill which provides for better government statistics on employment. That is stepping in the right direction.

The government has a function regarding employment. Getting the facts is one. Providing a shock absorber through funds to be loosed for public work is another. Not funds to be spent after unemployment comes, but to be spent when unemployment is approaching. Figures will show that.

But all this leads away from the main point of responsibility. Let us not make government the scape-goat or the cure-all. The main responsibility is with industry. Normal employment is in industry. When normal employment fails it is because industry has slipped. Nail the thing right where it belongs.

When we force the government to step in we are forcing the government to fix a break caused by maladministration in industry. Make industry know its responsibility!

What is wanted is continuous normal employment, with as little fixing by government as possible.

If industry, using high speed mass production machinery and paying low wages with long work-days, piles up more commodities than we can get purchasing power to buy, then we must expect a crash—crash after crash.

Industry—and the men who make decisions in industry—must get it into their heads that it is their job to keep prosperity going. Somehow it ought to be possible to penalize them when they fail, instead of rushing the government to fix what they smash. But that doesn't seem possible and government must do the fixing. It ought to do it as expertly as possible, with no loss of time. That's why the Wagner truth-hunting idea is good.

But fix the blame for the crashes where it belongs—on industry and the individual men who make the decisions therein. There is where the blame rests—a terrible burden of blame for thousands of hungry men and women and for thousands of children that cry for food when there is no food.

All through industry, fight for the remedy—higher wages, fewer hours of work, bigger purchasing power. And no workingman can fight for that all by himself. He must do it in co-operation with his fellows, in a union.

Fix the responsibility where it belongs; apply the remedy through the only possible channel—the union—in a tremendous campaign against injustice, maladministration and human misery.

In a civilized country substantial unemployment is an open disgrace. In a wealthy country it is a high crime. In this civilized and wealthy western republic, it is both a disgrace and a crime.

THE CHERRY TREE

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly.

Isn't there a fable somewhere about a man who, contemplating himself with eminent satisfaction, puffed and puffed and puffed until—smothered! It isn't difficult to imagine the Senate lobby committee, with Senator Caraway right up in front, puffing and puffing and puffing. Immense satisfaction is written all over everything. Yet what is it all about? What essential thing has been learned? The committee has shoveled some stuff that is nasty. Nasty, but not new. It has walked around the deep, black holes—walked around puffing and puffing and puffing. Worse than that, citizenship rights have been confused. To lobby is a right. To ask a legislator to favor a given measure is merely the exercise of the right of petition. The lobby committee, with its smirking and puffing, has tended to draw all lobbying into disrepute, yet without ever getting within gunshot of the real rot of Washington lobbying—the lobbying that amounts to something more than asking. This lobby committee continues to pose and to impress some people, but it impresses nobody quite as much as it impresses itself.

Guffaws cost no money—let's have another. Take the Senatorial astonishment at the discovery that trading was going on. Trading, in this sense is when one Senator says to another: "I'll vote for your bill if you'll vote for mine." Old as the hills. Sometimes it can be very bad, sometimes not at all harmful. But the point is, it is not new. Senator Caraway pounced upon it and denounced it. He had made a great discovery. This palaver about surface things gets tiresome at times. This business of being shocked by the obvious eventually loses its humorous aspect. It gets plain tiresome. But the Senate, in spite of its vaudeville performers, is a great institution. They don't all go puff, puff!

Unemployment remains present. The government thinks there is a little less—something like 1 per cent. Perhaps the man who is 1 per cent less unemployed feels 1 per cent better than he did last month. The Senate isn't doing much about the question, either; nor will it. At bottom, most office holders and most employers simply will not face the unemployment issue. They will not see what causes it, nor will they see that the cure must be radical. Machine production has given the thing a new character. And a new speed. Wages have got to go up—UP—and HIGH UP. Hours of work must be cut. What is all this machinery for? Well, not for what some people think, anyway. And unless we can get to using machinery as it should be used it will turn around and choke us every now and then. We can't laugh this thing off. Nor can we tolerate the red way of smashing our civilization. Senators are dumb about it—as dumb as are most big employers.

Well, with all these big problems on our collective chest, spring is nevertheless in the air. On a fine spring day even dark spots look less bleak. Rational ideas grow stronger, day by day. Common sense in the end must win—and will. Pessimism is the stock in trade of the wrecker. The American people have two characteristics. They are good repair men; and they are quick to take something better once they see it. So we'll take the new machinery and fix the structure to suit the new conditions.

A MAN'S CREED.

Let me live, O Mighty Master,
Such a life as men should know;
Tasting triumph and disaster—
Joy—but not too much of woe—
Let me run the gamut over,
Let me fight and love and laugh,
And when I'm beneath the clover,
Let this be my epitaph:
Here lies one who took his chances
In the busy world of men;
Battled luck and circumstances;
Fought and fell and fought again;
Won sometimes, but did not crowing;
Lost sometimes, but did not wail;
Took his beating, but kept going;
And never let his courage fail.

AMAZING GROWTH OF OUTPUT.

The accompanying news story, giving United States government figures on gains in production per hour per man, prove conclusively the statement repeatedly made by this paper—unemployment is the direct, inescapable result of automatic machinery. It cannot be prevented except by a new and rapidly revised basis of wage and hours-of-work calculation. Read these astounding figures and see why we have unemployment and why there will always be unemployment until wages and hours are adjusted to a revolutioned rate and method of production.

Taking the rate of production in 1914 as the base, and the index as 100 for that year, the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics shows the increase in the rate of man-hour productivity in 1927 in eleven industries.

Boots and shoes show the lowest per cent of increase, 24 per cent. Next comes slaughtering and packing, at 26 per cent increase. Cane sugar refining is third at 33 per cent increase. The others follow as shown here:

Paper and pulp	40% increase
Leather tanning	41% "
Cement	54% "
Iron and steel	55% "
Flour milling	59% "
Petroleum refining	82% "
Automobiles	178% "
Rubber tires	292% "

The above means, in the case of boots and shoes, that the labor of one man for one hour produced 24 per cent more in 1927 than in 1914. In rubber tire manufacture, the labor of one man produced on the average 292 per cent more in 1927 than in 1914.

In blast furnaces of the iron and steel industry the index has jumped from 44 in 1899 to 204 in 1926, dropping back to 203 in 1927.

The figures start for automobiles in 1914 at 40, and in 1927 stand at 278. For rubber tires they start at 100 in 1914 and reach 392 in 1927.

Seven times—approximately—is the rate of increase in automobile manufacture. Approximately four times in rubber tires.

In some other lines the change has been stupendous, even as compared with the best of the above.

Before long it may be possible to give the measure of inevitable unemployment in the rate of increase of man-hour productivity over and above the rate of the increase in wages.

Miss Naomi Deutsch of the Visiting Nurses' Association will address the meeting of the Labor Council this evening on the subject of reducing the high cost of sickness. Organized labor in San Francisco is opposed to the rule proposed by the Police Department which would permit automobiles to travel on the outer tracks on Market street, as this would greatly handicap the Municipal Railway and give an unfair advantage to the privately owned system through enabling its cars to reach the ferries in less time because of the lack of vehicle interference.

The Culinary Workers' Joint Board ask that all unions contemplating holding banquets get in touch with the secretary before completing arrangements in order to be sure that union conditions prevail. The telephone number is Market 3121. If officers of unions will bear this in mind, they can be of great assistance to the organizations in this line.

Molders' Union No. 164 reports that it is pleased with the action of the Board of Supervisors in disposing of the lighting standards proposition. It is expected that this action will be responsible for putting many members of iron trades unions to work in this city, thus relieving the unemployment situation to a considerable extent.

Sharply condemning the attitude of Harvard University in dismissing 20 scrubwomen rather than pay them the minimum wage required by Massachusetts law and terming it "harsh, stingy, socially insensitive and considerably short of the highest ethical standards of the time," a group of 52 representative Harvard alumni recently protested in an open letter to the governing boards of Harvard.

Unemployment in New York City reached its peak in February and since then conditions have shown a decided improvement, according to a report sent to Governor Roosevelt by the New York Board of Trade.

THOMAS RILEY PASSES.

Thomas G. Riley, for more than twenty years a delegate to the Labor Council from the Office Employees' Union, died last Saturday at his home after an illness covering several months as the result of a nervous breakdown. Riley had always been a tireless worker in the interest of the labor movement and held many offices in the Labor Council, in each of which he rendered the highest degree of service to his fellow men. He was of a happy disposition and made thousands of friends, both in the labor movement and on the outside. He had been cashier of the Justices Court for many years and in that capacity was always willing to give advice to those who needed it. The funeral was held last Tuesday morning and interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery and thousands followed the remains to the last resting place. His widow and relatives have the sympathy of the thousands who knew him during his long career in San Francisco.

LABOR LAW BREACH CHARGED.

Mrs. Eleanore Miller Herrick, Atherton society matron, was arrested Monday on a complaint sworn out by her gardener, L. E. De Quila of Mayfield, charging violation of the State labor laws. The complaint contained two charges relating to violation of the State labor laws as to payment of wages semi-monthly and violation of State Penal Code No. 484, regarding the hiring of servants.

Mrs. Herrick, the former wife of Lester Herrick, senior member of a San Francisco accounting firm, was booked at the Redwood City Jail and released on $400 bail. She was arraigned Tuesday and trial postponed.

"Hello," said Mrs. Jones to her neighbor, "I see you are around again with another little Carr."

"Yes, another little Carr it is. And as far as I'm concerned I hope he's the caboose."

The trade unionist who fails to demand union goods and union service is blind to his own best interests.
